

Indianapolis, Indiana, May, 2003—Flaherty and Collins Properties, Inc. has hired the following associates: Anthony W. Birkla as vice president development; Timothy E. Hill as development associate; and Will Goshorn as information technology specialist. Carrie Sietsma has been promoted to director of marketing, multifamily properties. All employees work at the company's Indianapolis headquarters.

Anthony W. Birkla

Timothy E. Hill

Will Goshorn

Carrie Sietsma

Anthony W. Birkla, hired as vice president development, is responsible for creating new development opportunities in Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois. He is involved in all aspects of the development process which include acquiring sites, obtaining necessary zoning/planning approvals, obtaining financing approvals, and managing the development process through construction. Birkla has over seven years of experience in the industry, having worked most recently for Brisben Development, Inc. of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a graduate of Indiana University Kelly School of Business with a BS in Finance and Real Estate.

Timothy E. Hill, named development associate, will assist in development of market-rate and tax credit multifamily developments throughout the United States and Canada. Hill is a recent graduate of Ball State University, where he served as graduate assistant in the interior design program. He has an MA in Family and Consumer Science with a specialization in Residential Property Management and a BS in Environmental Design with a specialization in Architecture. Hill has the designation of Certified Apartment Manager.

Will Goshorn, information technology specialist, is responsible for the computer equipment and networks of all of Flaherty and Collins properties, as well as the corporate offices in Indianapolis and Cincinnati. Prior to joining Flaherty & Collins, Goshorn worked as general manager of NetHeads, one of Indianapolis' largest and most progressive cyber cafés, where he helped maintain and install the company's sophisticated computer network. He earned a BS in Aviation Technology from Purdue University.

A Flaherty & Collins associate since March 2002, Carrie Seitsma has been promoted to director of marketing, multifamily housing. Seitsma works closely with corporate and on-site staffs to generate marketing plans and processes that result in leased-up developments and satisfied clients. She conducts in-house marketing training seminars, facilitates onsite leasing and maintenance motivational programs, and assists in the design and production of specific marketing collateral, including leasing brochures, Web sites, models, and signage. Seitsma has a BS in Business, majoring in Marketing and Logistics Management, from Indiana University, Purdue University Indianapolis, Indiana.

Flaherty & Collins was founded in 1993 by David Flaherty and Jerry Collins. It is an Accredited Management Organization (AMO) specializing in property and asset management, multi-family development, construction, and brokerage in Indiana and surrounding states.